FEDERAL FACTS.

KEY TO GO UPON THE BENCH

Where he will Sit and "Err" no More—The Savannah Custom-House Officials to be Bounced—New Hampshire Against Grant—Gen. J. E. Johnston.

WASHINGTON, April 30.—It is safe to telegraph you that Collector Atkins, of the port of Savannah, will not be reappointed. It is understood here that Atkins applied to be reappointed some weeks ago, and that he was then told that he would not be. I am unable to learn who wants the place, but I think any republican of influence in Georgia will apply in time to prevent a democrat falling heir to it. In this connection it is rumored that a number of changes will be made in the collector's office in Savannah at an early day. No special reason is alleged for the change, but from what I consider good authority, I am led to believe some of the shining lights will be called upon to hunt new places.

Hammond's speech on the trade-mark bill gained him a complete victory. The committee reporting the bill, said the amendments to it were not those of the committee, but of Mr. Hammond. The opponents of the bill cited this fact, and urged that the committee did not agree with Mr. Hammond, but notwithstanding, the bill as amended by Hammond passed by a decided and large majority. This serves to show how strong Mr. Hammond is with the house.

Telegrams from New Hampshire report the state as anti-Grant. Senator Logan, who has returned from Illinois, announces that after a conference with Grant he is able to state that Grant is in the hands of his friends, and that they will not withdraw him until he is beaten, no matter how many ballots are taken. It is conceded that Grant is defeated in Maryland, and that Sherman will have that state. Sherman will have eighteen delegates from North Carolina. The anti-third-termers are at work, but it matters not who is nominated by the republicans, a democratic victory is in store for the country.

Hon. N. J. Hammond left for Atlanta this morning, to be absent for ten days. T. P. Westmoreland, of Atlanta, and St. Clair-Abrams are in the cit. Abrams brought his boy and girl with him, and to-day put them at school in Georgetown.

Postmaster-General Key will leave the cabinet. The president has decided to appoint him to the vacant judgeship in Tennessee, though he has not yet tendered him the position. Notwithstanding the prejudice that met his entrance to the cabinet, the postmaster-general is to-day the most generally popular man in the president's official family, and his resignation will be regretted more than that of any other man. It is stated that General Tyner will be tendered the postmaster-generalship, but this is scarcely true, as it would not be considered exactly the thing to have two cabinet ministers from Indiana. Eugene Hale, who declined the naval portfolio at the commencement of the present administration, is also spoken of, but it is stated at the white-house that the successorship of Judge Key has not yet been seriously considered. Judge Key to day telegraphed to a prominent Tennessee republican that if the president offered the position he thought he should accept. The president said to-day that it would be difficult to find as good a man as Judge Key for the position he now occupied, and that he hated to part with him. Under the law Judge Baxter, of the United States circuit court, can hold terms of the district court until the end of the present administration, and as the president is so desirous of holding his present official family together until he retires from office, Mr. Key's appointment may be deferred until within a few days of that period.

Later.—At the cabinet meeting this afternoon the president tendered to Postmaster-General Key the position of district judge of the eastern and middle districts of Tennessee, made vacant by the death of Judge Trigg. The postmaster-general accepted, and his nomination will be sent to the senate just before the adjournment of congress. Nothing was said about his successor, but it is said Judge Tyner will be promoted to the postmaster-generalship.

Mr. Alfriend returned this morning from New York, where Senator Gordon and himself have been sojourning for several days. He tells your correspondent that the feeling among New York democrats is very encouraging. Tammany democrats and anti-Tammany democrats, Tilden men and anti-Tilden men, all avow their purpose to support the nominee of the Cincinnati convention. He reports that Mr. Tilden is a candidate, and that his friends are confident.

The house committee on banking and currency to-day instructed Mr. Price to ask for the passage of a bill abolishing stamp tax on bank checks under a suspension of the rules next Monday. Mr. De La Matyr's request to investigate the national banks was refused.

The judiciary committee have adopted a report in the case of Acklen, which will let the young man off with a very mild censure.

The announcement that General Joseph E. Johnston declines to be a candidate for re-election has caused very general regret among public men in Washington. General Johnston is held in the greatest respect by his brother members of congress and by all the influential men at Washington. He deservedly wields a large influence and is able to render Virginia important public services. It would be very difficult for any new member to acquire in one or two terms as much influence as General Johnston now has. I regard him as a singular, faithful and conscientious member of congress. There are not many of this sort. His punctuality is remarkable, and in this respect he sets an example worthy of all imitation.

The exodus investigation is practically over. To-day the committee adjourned without day. It has cost $40 000 Senator Voorhees says his purpose is accomplished. Only 700 negroes have so far entered Indiana. It requires six months' residence to vote on the presidential election, and it makes no difference how many come now, as they will be useless this trip.

The president sent to the senate to-day the nomination of Rollin V. Aukeny, of Jacksonville, to be surveyor general of the United States for the district of Florida.

The house committee on war claims to-day directed a favorable report to be made to the house upon the bill providing for the return to H. Johnson and others of the sum of $20,000, which is a surplus of the amount assessed upon southern sympathizers in Tennessee for damage done to public property during the late war.

The select committee charged with the investigation of the alleged attempt to corruptly influence Representative Springer's vote, resumed the subject. Representative Springer was first examined, and reviewed at length the circumstances connected with the anonymous note and the reasons which induced him to state in the course of his late personal explanation in the house his belief that the letter was inspired by Donnelly and Finley. The committee decided to have photographs made of the anonymous letter and the Finley letter for the purpose of submitting them for scrutiny to experts.

Finley, upon being sworn, said: The first I ever heard of the anonymous letter was when Donnelly told me about it, I think on March 9 I never saw it until in this committee room. I never wrote, never incited or suggested such a letter, and had nothing to do with creating it. In my letter to Mr. Springer, March 6, when I spoke to those personally most interested in the case, I referred to Donnelly's constituents. I lived in Minnesota seven years. I still claim that my residence is there, although I have been here in Washington since 1876, with the exception of occasional visits to Minnesota. The letter of the 6th was written on Sunday. I misdated it. By my intimation in the letter that a change of front on Mr. Springer's part would lead to grave accusations, I referred to the fact that up to a certain time it seemed to be conceded that Donnelly would be seated. Then came the turn and the republicans claimed the democrats had not the nerve to seat Donnelly. That is what I meant. On the morning of March 8, I met Donnelly at a little before 10 o'clock in the corridor of the house and he told me Springer was paired with a republican and was in favor of seating him (Donnelly)

Mr. Finley was asked whether Mr. Springer did not tell him about the time of the anonymous letter that he was in favor of going on seating Donnelly, and replied: "I so understood him, that he was ready to vote to seat Donnelly. I had conversations with Mr. Springer whenever I had a chance to meet him. I met him once in the corridor near the hall of the house. It was a few days before March 7. He said that as long as we are to seat Donnelly, I think it is better to go ahead and do it at once. The legal questions were never discussed between us. In my letter I referred to expediency. I never believed Springer doubted the right of Donnelly to his seat on law facts, but simply as to the political expediency of seating him. The conversation to which I refer was, I think, before March 4

Question—What do you mean by expediency of seating Donnelly?

The witness replied that the question of expediency referred to the time when Donnelly was to be seated and other matters. "By friends in New York, I did not refer to Tilden. Mr. Springer had ten opportunities to communicate with Tilden where I had one. It was reported that Tilden was working against Donnelly." Finley continued: "Tilden never expressed any wish to me on the Donnelly case. I have been informed that he took no part in the contest by expression of feeling. I last saw Tilden in January or December last."

Q Were there any rumors at that time, the 4th of March, in circulation that Washburn was ready to use money to influence the committee?

A. There were such remarks. The air was filled with them. I met William S. King and conversed with him upon the Donnelly-Washburn case. I told him Donnelly would be seated. He said that if money was any object Washburn would not hesitate to use it. The term "our friends in New York," means the democratic party. I had had conversations with representative men. I mention New York because I had a conversation there with Springer in regard to counting the electoral vote. When I saw him before March 10 last, he showed no heat or anger. We talked over the anonymous letter and Springer did not intimate I wrote the letter.

Mr. Springer here interrupted and confirmed the truth of the latter's statement.

He said, however, that if the letter was made public he would hold Julian or me responsible for publishing it, as we were the only ones that knew of it When I heard he was abusing me, I wrote Springer the letter of March 10.

In Congress.

THE SENATE.

Mr. Butler moved that when the senate adjourned to-day, it be to meet on Monday next. Agreed to.

After the transaction of some unimportant routine business, the senate resumed consideration of the bill to establish a retired list for non-commissioned officers. The pending question was on Mr. Allison's amendment to direct the president to appoint annually two colored cadets at large to West Point.

After considerable discussion, the morning hour expired without action on the bill or amendment, and the senate proceeded to consider the naval appropriation bill, which, without debate, was read the third time and passed.

The senate then took up the regular order, which was the Kellogg-Spofford resolutions. Mr. Vance, of North Carolina, spoke in support of the resolutions, but at 3:15 suspended his remarks, and the senate adjourned on account of the funeral of D. W. Middleton, which was about to take place from the capitol.

THE HOUSE.

Speaker Randall was in the chair when the house met.

Mr. Ballou, of Rhode Island, from the committee on education and labor, reported back the bill to constitute a commission to report on the amendment of the orthography of public documents. Referred to committee of the whole.

Mr. King, of Louisiana, gave notice that he would, next Wednesday, call up for consideration the resolutions reaffirming the Monroe doctrine.

Mr. Singleton, of Mississippi, from the committee on appropriations, reported back the consular and diplomatic bill with the senate amendments. The amendment increasing the appropriation for consular clerks and the amendment to defray the expenses of the diplomatic commission to China, were concurred in. The other amendments were not.

The house then went into a committee of the whole on the private calendar, and when the committee rose the house passed a number of pension bills and a bill for the relief of Charles Chuton, of New Orleans.

A bill for the relief of L Madison Day, of Louisiana, was defeated, 66 to 63, but the point of "no quorum" was raised, and the vote is not final. The house then adjourned.

Republican Sympathy With Crime.

HARRISBURG, April 30.—The board of pardons met this morning. After a formal application by the counsel for the prisoners now serving their terms for the conviction of corrupt solicitation in connection with the riot bill, Kemble, Crawford, Salter, Petroff and Rumberger, the board retired for a half hour for consultation, and finally recommended the pardon of all five so far as imprisonment is concerned.

HARRISBURG, PA, April 30.—The pardons in the corrupt solicitation cases were made out this evening and the prisoners released.

GUILTY GALASPA

CONFESSES AFTER MANY YEARS.

The Disappearance of James Jamison Explained After Twelve Years—A Strange Tragedy in Indiana—A Remarkable Story—A Lion Loose in Texas.

COLUMBUS, IND., April 27.—The old adage, "Murder will out," has again been demonstrated upon the death of William P. Galaspa, a once well-to-do farmer living in Johnson county, near the junction of the line of Brown and Bartholomew.

There are very few persons living now who do not remember the mysterious disappearance of James Jamison, in 1867, a wealthy stock-dealer, living in Johnson county, but confining his business mostly to Brown county. The diligent search that was made for him, the subsequent finding of his horse in the possession of Elias Curry, a farmer living in Brown county, who said he had purchased it of Jamison the week before, and the final abandoning of the unsuccessful search, the matter had almost been stored in forgetfulness until last Friday. Wm. P. Galaspa, who has been lying at the point of death, confessed but a few hours before his departure from this world of sin, to one of the most deliberate and cold-blooded murders on recored, showing what the love of money will lead to. As before stated, in 1867 Jamison was in that neighborhood, buying stock, and it being known that he had a large amount of money on his person, Galaspa, in conjunction with Elias Curry, Curry's son and another party whose name is above suspicion, and who is a prominent politician in Brown county, laid in ambush one evening, knowing that Jamison would pass that way, who did, little dreaming that death awaited him so soon. He had hardly passed before the sharp report of a rifle resounded through the hills, and Jamison fell to the ground a corpse, the bullet having pierced his heart. His body was quickly robbed of its effects, consisting of $1,665 in money, a watch and chain and other valuables, after which it was taken to Hurricane Ridge, in Hamblin township, Brown county, three-quarters of a mile from Curry's house, and buried. The money was then divided between the four murderers, Curry taking the horse at $100. Curry has always had the reputation of a desperate character, and was known to be a professional horse thief, his house being the rendezvous for a band operating between Chicago and New Orleans. Jamison had been at his house but a day or so before endeavoring to buy stock. Curry and his sons had upon several occasions been indicted for horse-stealing, but always managed to escape punishment.

At the time of this murder, one of his sons was being tried for stealing a horse in Franklin, and jumped from the second-story of the court house during the progress of the trial, escaping to the woods, where he was recaptured, returned and finally cleared. After this a vigilance committee was organized in Brown county, and a meeting was held for the purpose of lynching young Curry, but from some cause it was not carried out.

The parties implicated with Galaspa are still living, but, as it occurred so long ago, it is doubtful whether or no they can be indicted. Still, strong efforts will be made to bring them to justice.

NASHVILLE, IND., April 30.—Brown county now comes to the front with another sensation, which savors both of the sad and somewhat romantic. The principal characters of this strange sensation are Nelson Root, formerly of Ohio, and Mary Fleetwood, his mistress, who both met their death in a very strange manner, and almost instantaneously. The facts of the case are as follows:

Root was foreman in McGregory's staveyards, the largest in southern Indiana, which are situated at a little place called Schooner, not far from this place. He occupied a little hovel in this isolated spot, with no companion but a half-grown boy, though he has a wife and children in Ohio. His alleged paramour, Mary, occupied a similar hut not far distant from his, and it was her usual custom to go over to his house every few days and spend the night with him. Root has always been a hard drinker, and a few weeks previous to his death he had been drinking excessively, and was finally overcome by the delirium tremens, until he was almost a raving maniac. He became so frenzied that he attempted to butcher the boy who lived with him, and kept crying for help, that armed men were trying to murder him. He started for the woods, and as soon as he was missing a search was made, and three days passed before he was found He had wandered through the lonely woods into a deep ravine, where he was discovered sitting on the wet ground beside a deep hole about the size dug for a man's grave, which he had swooped out, and, it is supposed, intended to bury himself. He had his hands and mouth full of moss and rubbish, on which he had been feeding. He was taken back to his hut, but all efforts to resuscitate him were unavailable. He died in a few hours in great agony.

On the evening of his death his paramour, Mary, not knowing what had transpired, came over, as was her custom, and finding him dead, broke out in long and loud wails of anguish and grief, and kept it up until she reached her own house. The strangest part of the case is just as she reached her own door she was struck by a bolt of lightning and killed, and another woman of the same stripe who lived with her was injured seriously in the arm. Thus ended the lives of two unfortunate, misguided wretches. Root's remains were taken to Ohio for interment, with not a single kind, dying word or request to comfort the family at home. The affair has caused quite a stir and excitement among the natives of that isolated and lonesome spot.

DALLAS, April 27.—A wild Mexican lion, larger than a Newfoundland dog, is loose a few miles west of the city, and has killed several head of small stock. It attacked two parties at different times. A young lady named Martha Martin was badly lacerated a short time ago about the right arm and shoulders and only saved by a party of friends, who heard her screams and came to her rescue. Yesterday a farmer's life was saved only by a faithful bull dog, which was so badly injured in the fight that he will die. The people in the neighborhood demand protection from the county commissioners.

SEYMOUR, IND, April 30.—During the storm yesterday a Mrs. Applegate, residing a few miles south of town, went out of the house to adjust a trough leading down from the spout to the kitchen. In doing so she caught hold of the lightning-rod, when an electric current struck the rod and passing down it ran up her arm and into her mouth, almost burning her tongue to a crisp. She was paralyzed and rendered speechless, but it is thought will recover.

NEW YORK, April 30.—An evening paper says: "Peter Weiler, a wealthy German manufacturer and real estate owner, who committed suicide at his residence at Woodside, N. J., on Sunday last, left a note addressed to his wife expressing a wish that his body might be burned, and not buried. The remains of Mr. Weiler will be taken to the LeMoyne crematory at Washington, Pa., this evening."

READINGTON, N. J., April 30—A curious and shocking accident occurred on Friday last, resulting in the death of the daughter of Peter Hyler, a well-known farmer. The little one, 4 years old, accompanied her mother out to feed the chickens and remained near the wagon-house to play after the mother had returned. When half an hour had elapsed, the mother grew anxious about the child and went to look for her. To her horror she found the dead body of her child suspended by the neck from the door of a corn-crib, which is built in the wagon-house. The door is composed of boards which slide up and down in a groove. Some of the upper boards had previously been shoved up, where they had caught fast, thus leaving an opening of about four feet from the ground. It is supposed in playing the little girl put her head through this opening and swung her feet against the boards forming the lower part of the door. The jar must have caused the upper boards to fall and catching the child's head, they imprisoned her and choked her to death.

MACON, April 30.—Pursuant to the call published this morning, a large meeting composed of the best and most influential citizens of Bibb county, assembled in the superior court room to-night to indorse the course of Hon. James H. Blount, member of congress from this district, with a view to inducing him to reconsider his determination, recently published, of retiring from the public service at the close of his present term. The character and standing of those who composed the meeting ought to be sufficient to overcome any ordinary reasons which prompt Mr. Blount in retiring. The meeting was organized by calling the Hon. L. N. Whittle to the chair, and Hon. R. A. Nisbet, secretary. A series of highly complimentary resolutions were adopted. The meeting was addressed by Judge Clifford Anderson, who warmly indorsed the public career of the member from the sixth; in which he was frequently applauded by the large audience.

ON THE AIR-LINE.

THE NEW SHOPS IN ATLANTA.

The Air-Line Company Adding to the Population and Industry of the City—President Wadley of the Central to Give Way to General E. P. Alexander.

AUGUSTA, GA., April 30.—General E. P. Alexander, president of the Georgia railroad, has been tendered the position of vice-president of the Louisville and Nashville road. He will accept and will decline the re-election for president of the Georgia road at the stockholders meeting in May. He was asked by the Louisville and Nashville company to name his own salary. Fifteen hundred shares of the Georgia railroad stock were sold here yesterday and to-day at from 105 down to par. The stock is now very strong at 102. Central stock is 91½.

SAVANNAH, April .—In the United States court to-day, Judge Woods, in the case of Morris K. Jessup, surviving trustee, vs. the Savannah, Florida and Western railway company and railroad commissioners of Georgia, granted a restraining order till a motion for an injunction can be heard, restraining said railroad company and commissioners from proceeding under the tariff of rates established by the latter.

Yesterday afternoon a CONSTITUTION reporter stepped aboard the Air-Line train with Mr. W. J. Houston, the efficient and gentlemanly general ticket agent of the Atlanta and Charlotte Air-Line railway, and in a few moments was put off at the new site upon which the shops of this admirable road are in process of construction. The grounds are situated on the left of the Air-Line, a few hundred yards below the junction with the Georgia road. They touch the foot of Wheat street, and are just within the corporate limits being one mile and a half from the city depot. The area covers about nine acres, and has been well graded. Everything about these extensive grounds wears a busy aspect. At the extreme lower end a round-house large enough to accommodate twelve engines has been erected. This is simply the beginning of the round house on a magnificent plan, which the company contemplate building. It is so constructed that it can be readily extended from both ends in a circular form, ample space having been left in front and at either side for this purpose. About midway the grounds stands the machine shops, which is not yet complete, but will be ready for occupancy in a few weeks. To the left of this building upon a high embankment formed by the grading a mammoth tank has been reared. It is proposed to build another of like size alongside it. These two tanks will be supplied with water from a huge well sixty feet deep and twenty feet from side to side, which a force of workmen are now actively digging. The boiler of the engine which is to be used in the machine shop will be placed near these tanks and supplied from them, while the engine itself will be located at a distance of probably one hundred feet. These tanks will be very convenient in case of fire because the grounds are too far out to be promptly reached by the engines. This side of the machine shop and at right angles with it will be built a large car factory, it being the intention of the company to construct their own cars. To the right of the round-house and near the road bed the office of the superintendent of the shops will be raised. The material for these additional buildings has been ordered, and work upon them will be commenced at once. In a few days a huge hydrant of the latest and best make will be put in place upon the grounds to supply passing locomotives with water. Mr. Wall, a thorough mechanic, is the superintendent of both the wood and iron departments of these shops. The work under his excellent supervision is being rapidly pushed forward and the reporter hopes ere long to present to the readers of THE CONSTITUTION a description of these great Air-Line improvements in their completed condition. The reporter noticed that the grounds were sprinkled with decomposed granite, a substance which never becomes muddy or dusty, and thought what a good idea it would be to live in a place where the street committee used it liberally—a place where those terrible bores, the sprinklers, would never be needed, and where the money expended for overshoes might all be given to the past—or expended in county elections.

While roaming over these fine grounds the attention of the note-taker was directed to the Air-Line "Belle," the brand new little accommodation train which whirled past on its way to Norcross. This most accommodating train leaves Atlanta every afternoon at 5 o'clock, will make stoppages wherever "motioned" down by the traveling public, spend the night in the pleasant town of Norcross, and return to the city at 8 in the morning. The public should not forget that this new-comer upon the Air-Line connects with the street cars at Ponce de Leon after 5 in the afternoon and before 8 in the morning.

MINOR ITEMS.

—The Knoxville Dispatch believes that Messrs. Wilson & McGhee, and not Mr. Foreacre, bought the Knoxville and Augusta railroad. The transaction took place about the 20th of March.

—A rumor is current in Augusta, says the Evening News, that President Wadley, of the Central railroad, has, on account of ill health and age, tendered his resignation, recommending General E. P. Alexander as his successor.

—Augusta Evening News: The approaching convention of the Georgia railroad stockholders will be the most enthusiastic in years. The fine showing of the road, and its brilliant prospects under General Alexander, will insure his unanimous re-election, and give him the support and thanks of every stockholder. The prospect of a large dividend, with the universal improvement in the road, track, rolling stock and officers, will all help on the slogan of Alexander and success.

—Chattanooga Times: The change of schedule on the Cincinnati Southern railway, and the putting on a double daily train does not go into effect on May 2d as announced a few days ago, but will take place next Sunday week, when schedules will change on all the roads coming into the city. The additional train on the Cincinnati Southern will leave here at 6:10 p.m., arriving at Cincinnati at 6:20 a.m. It leaves Cincinnati at 6:30 p.m., arriving here at 7:40 a.m. The north bound train, leaving at 6:10 p.m., will make close connection with the A. G. S., E. T. Va. & Ga., and M. C., in this city and with the W. & A., at Boyce.

—Chattanooga Times: The row over the sale of excursion coupons by Knoxville merchants, at the late opening of the Cincinnati Southern railroad, has culminated, the denouement being in the form of a card from James R. Ogden, general freight and passenger agent East Tennessee, Virginia and Georgia railroad. Mr. Ogden states that Messrs. M. J. Condon and B. R. Strong "disposed" of their coupons from Cincinnati to Chattanooga, and "sold" their return coupons from Chicago to Cincinnati. The gentlemen claim that they gave away their Cincinnati Chattanooga tickets and exchanged the Chicago-Cincinnati, as far as they went, on tickets from Chicago to New York. What seems to be most regretted about the affair is its final publicity.

—Cincinnati Enquirer: Too great an extent has stealing excess baggage money been carried of late at prominent railroad points throughout the country, that general passenger agents are endeavoring to devise some plan by which they can stop the dishonest proceedings. It is now proposed to have on the back of single tickets, and on the initial coupon of coupon tickets, a form which will show what the weight of the excess baggage is, when any passenger has excess baggage, and also the amount of excess money the passengers pay. Then when the ticket is returned to headquarters the amount given as paid must check with the report made by the baggage-master of the point from which the baggage is forwarded. Colonel W. B. Shattuc, of this city, has gotten up a ticket which will prevent fraud on the part of the passengers as well as employes of railroads. He will patent the design before putting it in use.

Note 1 of the Railroad Commissioners' Rules.

As many people seem to think that the maximum rates of freight of the commission must be charged in every instance by the railroad, or the tariff must be lowered proportionately at each station, we publish

NOTE 1.—Rates specified for ores, sand, clay, rough stone, common brick, bones, lumber, wood, straw, shucks, hay, fodder, corn in ear, tan-bark, turpentine, rosin, tar and household goods, are maximum, but the railroads are left free, without violation of any rule, to make lesser rates by special contract. This provision shall apply also to articles manufactured on or near the line of road, and for material used in such manufacture.

This shows that the railroad managers can make lower rates for millers and manufacturers than the standard tariff without varying at other stations.

GLITTERING GOLD.

The Wild Hunt for Veins and Nuggets.

Gainesville Eagle.

While there is never a week or hardly a day that one cannot hear or see something about the wonderful gold deposits that lie around and about us, almost at our very doors, yet it is rarely that we have so much interest and excitement as in the last few days. Of course like everything else that is commonly talked of, we hear it until it becomes an old song, but two or three weeks ago when a man came through Gainesville, and drawing his silk handerchief out of his pocket, unwound it from around a chunk of bright yellow gold about the shape and size of a small trout fish, and said it was picked up by the side of a small branch near his house, and that a hatful of smaller nuggets had been picked up there in a day or two, then people rubbed their eyes and made several remarks. The news was noised abroad, and the result has been an increased activity and intensified excitement on the subject of mines, claims, lands, etc.

Last Friday the town was full of strange faces. Every hack, saddle horse and vehicle in the city were pressed into service to transport the eager and excited crowd that were rushing to where wealth was lying scattered around in boulders to be had for the picking up. Three hack loads of miners and capitalists went to Dahlonega to prospect, and look after interests which they already had there. Two hack loads went to Nacoochee valley where the big find alluded to above had been made. Among these was the Messrs. Lumsden, of Macon, father and brother of the young men who had struck it so rich, and who are interested in the mines.

Altogether there is a boom in mines, mining lands and interests in this vicinity. Messrs. Van Bleck & Son, who are here representing a substantial mining company are making large and profitable purchases Others are doing likewise.

There is no sort of doubt that this section is as rich in gold deposits as the Black hills, or any other of the famous sections which have passed into the history of the country. It is easy of access too, and unless we are much mistaken the next ten years will see every valley and hillside alive with men delving deep in the bowels of the earth for the precious metals that lie buried beneath its surfaee.

A TERRIFIC BEAR FIGHT.

How the Polar Killed the Brown Bear at the Cincinnati Zoo.

Cincinnati Commercial.

It was found necessary yesterday to repair the polar bear water tank at the Zoo, and for the purpose the brown bears were driven into the right compartments so that their pit could be occupied by the white specimens of the Genus Ursus temporarily. One of the iron doors of the compartment not being fully closed resulted in one of the small brown bears discovering what he considered intruders in his family's domain. Every time one of the visitors passed this opening, he rammed one paw through and tried to give him a wipe. Finally the male polar, after making several go-as-you-please laps around the pit, seemed to have definitely settled upon a plan of action. When making the next circuit the warlike paw was stuck out as before. In a second he grasped it and dragged its owner through the narrow opening into the pit. Those who saw the fight say that it was terrific while it lasted. The contestants were unevenly matched, but nevertheless the little brown bear stood up to the work with admirable pluck. Up and down the pit they went in the deadly struggle, the little fellow scoring the first point by bringing blood from the polar's head, for which he received a rap that made his teeth rattle and knocked him about ten feet. They came together again like a flash, and quicker than thought the polar rose on its hind legs with his enemy in his embrace. As the pressure was applied the bones could be heard to crack. Presently the hug relaxed and a dying bear dropped to the pavement. The polar now for the first time seemed to be fully enraged, and with great leaps jumped up and down on the prostrate foe, uttering deep hoarse growls that called forth an answering chorus from all the animals surrounding. He at last held the carcass down with one paw and commenced rending the bear with his teeth. The keeper, who had opened the doors, making a passage way through to the polars, quarters, now went to work with a long pointed iron rod, and succeeded in driving the polars back to their quarters, when he immediately let down the doors. The victorious animal thirsted for more gore, and in his efforts to gratify the desire exhibited almost human intelligence. Placing one paw against the iron door he would push on it as if raising a window. Twice it yielded partly, and holding it in position he would lower his head sideways and look through the opening, but when he attempted to get under it a relaxed hold would return the door to its place. On the last trial he raised it, and with the assistance of the other paw gave it another lift, and was half-way through into the adjoining pit before the keeper could drive him back. The door was then securely fastened to prevent a repetition of the proceeding. For the next half hour the polar continued trying to get through, and at last gave it up as a bad job.

Death of Colonel Jones.

Special dispatch to The Constitution.

WASHINGTON, April 30.—Colonel William Hemphill Jones died in this city to-day of pneumonia, in the 69th year of his age. He was chief clerk of the house ways and means committee at the time of his death, and had previously been long connected with the treasury department. In 1861, when General Dix was secretary of the treasury, Colonel Jones was sent to New Orleans to look after United States property there, and it was to him that General Dix sent his famous dispatch: "If any man attempts to haul down the American flag shoot him on the spot." He was a native of Wilmington, to which place his remains will be taken for burial.

THE GREAT UNREST

THAT DISTURBS THE OLD WORLD.

The Dry Bones of the Imperials Sadly Disturbed by Gladstone's Accession to Power—Parnell's Waning Influence—Bismarck's One-Man Ideas.

LONDON, April 30.—Lord Carlingford declines the ambassadorship at Constantinople.

A correspondent of the Times says the changes in the British parliament and cabinet have brought an element of uncertainty into European politics, which gives free scope to imagination.

The sending of Austrian and German military deputations to St. Petersburg to congratulate the czar on his birthday, a courtesy which has never been shown before, and would not have been noticed at another time, is now connected by conjecture with the reconstitution of the triple alliance. The prince of Bulgaria is expected at Belgrade to pay a long promised visit, and in view of the fresh impulse given to the aspiration of the Balkan populations by the change in the British ministry, this visit is now regarded as the first step towards an alliance of the Balkan principalities. The union of the three advanced liberal leaders in the chamber of deputies with the regular opposition for the overthrow of the Cairoli ministry is brought into connection with a change in the government of England, which is supposed to have broken the spell which has forced Italy to keep on good terms with Austria. The party of action, it is said, no longer restrained by the moderating voice of England, which has been often heard of late, considers that the time is near for the realization of Italian aspirations.

The new members of the house of commons were sworn in to-day. Those objecting to take the oath were permitted to affirm

A Dublin dispatch to the Times says: Mr. Parnell's great national land conference yesterday must be pronounced a signal failure. The room in which the meeting was held was not more than half full, although there was no restriction regarding admission and at no period were there more than 250 present, including eighteen members of parliament The conference had little claim to the title to a representative assembly.

The Catholic archbishop of Dublin, in a pastoral letter says: "Doctrines destructive of mutual confidence are laid down by some public speakers as the first principles of morals. Patriotism is invoked as a spirit of disunion between priests and the people. The evil genius of communism which has brought such fearful woes on other lands is only watching the opportunity which that disunion may give to try to establish its hideous throne among us. Our people have yet many wrongs, our educational system is imperfect, our land laws, though reformed, can still be employed as instruments of great industry, and we must use every means on which God's blessings can be worked to redress these wrongs."

AUSTRIA.

VIENNA, April 30.—During a fire at Grushback Moravia, some malicious person incited a mob to attack the Jews. One Jew was mortally injured, another had his hand cut off, and others were saved with the utmost difficulty.

ITALY.

RUSSIA.

Special dispatch to The Constitution.

LONDON, April 30.—A dispatch from St. Petersburg says that to-day being the anniversary of the emperor's birthday, a reception was held at the winter palace. Extraordinary envoys from Germany and Austria, and deputations from the German regiment, of which the czar is honorary colonel, attended. Much importance is attached to the presence of the envoys from Vienna, as none ever attended on similar occasions. The Berlin Post connects this circumstance with the possibility of a renewal of the alliance between the three emperors.

Judge Clayton has been cordially congratulated on his success. He will make a faithful and efficient officer. We learn that he will give the bond at once and enter on the performance of his duties as tax-collector of Fulton county.

GEORGIA GREETS HER CHILDREN.

Grand Inaugural Celebration of Children's Day To-Day.

PROGRAMME.

The bells in all the churches of the city and and county will ring out a joyous peal at 6 o'clock a.m.

At 8 o'clock a m, the bells will again be rung as a signal for the assembling of the children and friends in the city hall park, where badges will be furnished, designating them as members of the grand Sunday-school army.

Each school is requested to supply itself with a banner, and place it at some suitable point in the park, as a rallying place for its members.

At 9 o'clock the schools will be formed in procession by the marshal and his aids, and march to the depot, led by a brass band.

The governor of the state, mayor of the city, orator of the day, officers of the association and invited guests will march at the head of the column. The line of march will be as follows: Down Hunter street to Whitehall, down Whitehall to Alabama, up Alabama to Broad, across the bridge to Marietta, down Marietta and Decatur to Pryor and through Pryor to the depot, where trains will be in waiting to carry them to Oglethorpe park.

All persons wearing the badge will be permitted to purchase tickets for the round trip for 10 cents; regular tickets 25 cents for round trip. No person will be furnished with a badge except those joining the procession at city hall.

Street cars will run to the park every fifteen minutes during the day. Fare the same as by trains.

Arriving at the park the procession will march to the grand stand, where an address will be delivered by Rev. W. E. Boggs, D.D., pastor Central Presbyterian church, Atlanta, to be followed by interesting exercises in which children of all the schools will participate.

The singing, which will be under the direction of Professor V. T. Barnwell, chorister, will be led by a splendid orchestral band, and a grand chorus of two hundred trained voices.

At one o'clock p.m. adjourn for the time-honored and ever-popular basket dinner.

The afternoon will be given up to the children to be enjoyed in their own way, and every effort will be made and facility afforded to make it one of the happiest days of their lives.

The older ones will spend the afternoon in social intercourse in singing, speaking, or any other manner most agreeable, and it is hoped that the opportunity will be improved to become better and more generally acquainted with each other, and especially to cultivate more intimate social relations with our good friends from the country, who always entertain us so generously when we visit them.

In conclusion, the association earnestly appeals to every officer and teacher in the county, to enter heartily into the spirit of the occasion, and at once put forth every effort to make this inaugural celebration a grand success, so that to all our schools "children's day" will be the most joyous day of the year.

The young ladies and gentlemen of all our schools are earnestly requested to join in the procession and all other exercises of the day.

Our country friends are requested to drive directly to the city hall in time to join the procession and have their wagons meet them at the depot and drive out to the park, or take the train, as they prefer. Trains will run every thirty minutes from 9:30 a m, until twelve, and return trains will leave the park every thirty minutes, from 3:30 p.m., until all have been brought in.

On arrival of the procession at the depot, all cars will be reserved for those wearing badges. The marshals and the police will see that this rule is enforced. Let there be no hurrying or crowding to get on cars. Ample time and plenty of room will be afforded for all, therefore be patient until your turn comes.

Now let us unite in one common effort to give our children a glad and happy day, May 1st, 1880.

J. C. KIMBALL, President.

W. F. PARKHURST, Secretary.

W. F. Slaton, D. A. Beatie, R. A. Hemphill, A. C. Briscoe, R. L. Berry, Executive Committee. J. J. Toon, Marshal. V. T. Barnwell, Chorister.

CLOSING BUSINESS.

It is understood that nearly all the business houses will close at 9 o'clock, so far, at least, as to release all their clerks, and most of them will close entirely and join the festivities of the day. It is now an assured fact that it will be the grandest demonstration by Sunday-schools ever witnessed in the south.

The Southern Baptist Convention.

The Southern Baptist convention, which met in Atlanta last year, convenes in session this year at Lexington, Kentucky, on Thursday next. A special train will leave Atlanta Wednesday at 3 o'clock for Lexington, following immediately behind the regular passenger train for Chattanooga. This train will be made up of passenger coaches of the Cincinnati Southern railroad and will be pulled by one of the magnificent locomotives of that line. This train will reach Lexington on Thursday morning at 6 o'clock.

Yesterday afternoon Dr. Ticknor, one of the trustees of the theological seminary of Louisville, accompanied by his son, passed through Atlanta on his way to Lexington, where he goes for the purpose of attending the convention. The Georgia delegation will doubtless go by special train on Wednesday. The Cincinnati Southern displays a good deal of enterprise in sending a special train to Atlanta. The arrival and departure of this train will attract considerable interest in this city, as it will be the first full train of passenger coaches of the Cincinnati Southern ever seen in this section.

Children's Day at Last.

To-day the children of Fulton county will be happy. We present elsewhere the full programme for the celebration of the day. The committee request us to repeat the notice about charges at the gate for carriages. As considerable expense has been incurred in erecting platforms and fitting up the grounds, a charge of 25 cents for each buggy and 50 cents for each two-horse vehicle entering the park will be collected at the gate. No charge for persons—only for vehicles. We are sure this small fee will be paid most cheerfully.

The Constitution.

Entered as second-class matter, at the Atlanta post-office, December 11, 1879.

ATLANTA, GA., MAY 1, 1880.

BLAINE has gobbled up the entire Pacific coast, and is now free to apply all his energies to the half dozen of interior states that hold conventions next week. It is only about a month to the meeting of the Chicago convention, and the triangular contest among the republicans will get hotter and more uncertain as it approaches.

THE approach of summer is heralded by the institution of quarantine. Baltimore leads off with a proclamation quarantining all vessels that set sail from ports south of Cape Henry. The Georgia ports cannot be too careful this season. The West Indies and the ports of the mainland south of this country are infected with the deadly fever this year.

DON CAMERON controls the board that is entrusted in his state with the consideration of applications for pardon, and he has decided, it seems, to release from imprisonment the notorious third-termer, Kemble, and several of his political assistants. The working force of the Grant party needs its ablest and most unscrupulous leaders, and Kemble goes free. The Cameron machine is, in fact, a very fine and a very efficient institution.

THE new tariff prepared by the railroad commissioners goes into effect today. For the convenience alike of the public and the railroad companies, THE CONSTITUTION publishing company has printed a copy of the whole tariff, rules and orders, very carefully prepared and certified to, by the commission as complete in itself, embracing all modifications, the substance of all the circulars, and the correction of all errata up to this day. It is ready just as it stands, and copies of it can be had by application at the business office of THE CONSTITUTION.

NEARLY one thousand of the best citizens of Macon have signed their names to a call for a meeting to be held in that city last night, the purpose of which was to protest against the refusal of Mr. Blount to again become a candidate for congress. This is a matter that may naturally be presumed to interest only the citizens of the sixth district, but so far as Mr. Blount's re-election is concerned, it is a question of interest to Georgia, to the south, and to the whole country. Mr. Blount is perhaps the most useful member of congress that has been sent to Washington since the war, and this fact is recognized on all hands; so that the question of his re-election is not merely a local or sectional matter, nor a question of personal preference, nor a question of politics. It is a matter of business. We have no idea that the people of the sixth district will allow the country to be deprived of Mr. Blount's services.

The Chicago Nomination.

Republican conventions were held this week in Ohio, Arkansas, South Carolina and California. Assuming that the delegates will in every instance obey instructions and the known will of their respective states, we find that the strength of the aspirants stands as follows:

It is the field against Grant, as it was at Cincinnati against Blaine, and as it was in 1860 against Seward. The Sherman and the Blaine men are alike engaged in endeavoring to show, either that no candidate has a "sure thing," or that Grant's nomination is an impossibility. The favorite method of reducing—on paper—Grant's strength consists in showing that there will be free violations of the unit rule. In this way they take from Grant 24 of the Illinois delegates who are yet to be elected, 16 of the New York delegation, 20 of the Pennsylvania, and 12 of the Texas delegates. As 379 votes are necessary to nominate, and as such returns would bring Grant's assumed vote down to about 200—making it necessary to get 179 out of the 308 delegates yet to be elected—it is not a difficult task on the part of the anti-Grant men to count out their great adversary. The Chicago nomination will really turn upon two things: first, the vote of Illinois, and secondly, the efficacy of the unit rule. Blaine is contesting Illinois with the utmost vigor, and at this writing it is claimed that he has carried a majority of the county delegates; but as only a small part of the state has chosen delegates to the convention of the 19th of May, and as both Logan and Washburne are co-operating to carry the state for Galena's famous citizen, it is very unsafe to assume that Blaine will be able to carry the convention. If Grant secures a majority of the convention, the unit rule will undoubtedly be adopted; and then Grant's chances will turn upon the second proposition. The Cincinnati convention of 1876 held that the unit rule was not binding upon delegates, or rather that it would not attempt to carry such instructions into effect. If therefore Grant has not in the convention a clear majority of real friends, there will undoubtedly be infractions of the unit rule.

Grant's nomination is therefore very uncertain, and will remain so until the Illinois convention is held. He holds the leading place, but he is exposed not only to the combinations and plans of all his rivals, but he has to contend with the strong anti-third-term feeling that is cropping out in every direction. This feeling prevents him from getting any more northern delegates outside of Illinois. His strength will, therefore, be confined to the unit-bound delegations of New York, Pennsylvania, and probably Illinois, together with those from the irresponsible rotten boroughs of the south. There is nothing in this strength to be proud of, but it is possible, and, perhaps probable, that it will suffice to give him the nomination. We certainly hope it will.

Conventions of republicans will be held next week in Tennessee, Wisconsin, Mississippi, New Jersey, New Hampshire, Maryland and Delaware. If Grant should secure either Wisconsin or New Jersey, his star would clearly be in the ascendant. But this is an improbable event, and the indications now are that next week will have a depressing effect upon the partisans of the silent man.

Notes of New Books.

We have not yet had an opportunity of reading in book form Mrs. Burnett's new story of "Louisiana," just concluded in Scribner, but we have followed it in the magazine with sufficient interest to say that, while in some respects a very powerful piece of fiction, it is lacking in those proportions of dramatic unity which meet, and fit, and blend, and satisfy, in every work of art. What was a glaring defect in "That Lass o' Lowrie's" has here become almost fatal. In both stories Mrs. Burnett has made an unnecessary and, we must say, an unseemly concession to the sentimental demands of the taste and the period when she wrote stories for those wonderful repositories of mediocrity, the Philadelphia ladies' books. She has sacrificed her artistic instincts to the supposed necessity which compels the stage father to step forth with a bag full of cracked crockery, and cry "Bless you, me che-hildrin! bless you!" and which carries the Sylvanus Cobb heroes and heroines to serene nuptials through cavernous passages and over trap-doors ready to yawn in unison with the reader. Upon no other theory could Mrs. Burnett have stripped the character of Joan of all its dramatic possibilities at the end; for no other reason could she have married an ignorant North Carolina girl to a New York litterateur and left her in the whirlpools of fashionable society. Something is due to probability. There are matters of fact in fiction as well as in real life—particularly when fiction is so bold as to attempt to portray through the medium of art, the realities of life. In the enthusiasm of discovering a new writer of extraordinary power, we did not allude, in reviewing Mrs. Burnett's first story, to the incongruous position in which she places her heroine by marrying her to the somewhat fussy, but refined and cultured hero; but the effect of the North Carolina episode is similar to that of Louisiana's native persimmon—it leaves the reader in a somewhat puckered state. The school-girls and the Miss Nancies of the other sex will give tongue to a chorus of delight that the affair has turned out happily for all concerned; but the judicious will grieve to learn that Mr. Ferol, who has been used to swinging to the boot of Colonel Delancy Kane's fascinating tally-ho coach, which is one of the delightful privileges of metropolitan society, has swung on to a magnificent creature whom he cannot introduce to his friends without a tremor lest she suddenly swoop from her uncomfortable perch and reappear again with a choice extract from the North Carolinian language which has been her possession all her life long. The dialect used by Louisiana's father has been so painfully elaborated by Mrs. Burnett, as to almost seem like caricature, and in view of this the phenomenon of Louisiana, reared among such surroundings and stimulated by such associations, becomes too absurd for serious consideration. If Mrs. Burnett had entered the field of romance just here and shown how the emotions of the girl had been purified, refined and regenerated, the study might have been of passing interest, but as matters stand she has spoiled an excellent story and violated the requirements of art by asking the reader to take for granted that which we know to be absolutely impossible. It is a little singular that the dramatic instinct of Mrs. Burnett, which seems to be exceptionally keen, should not have warned her against a culmination so feeble and flabby. The continuation of the dramatic effect is quite in another direction—in any other direction, in fact, save that which the author has chosen; unless, indeed, we are to have an appendix to "Louisiana," wherein we are to be informed how bitterly the foolish Mr. Ferol repented the haste which impelled him to judge of his future wife from appearances only. A minor defect in the story is the treatment of the cracker character and in the reproduction of the cracker dialect. We may say of a negative plate that it is not a photograph. The most perfect technical skill may be exhausted upon a painting in vain if it fail to reproduce an impression or suggest an aspiration. Mere elaboration of details will not give us a vivid conception of character. Mere mannerisms do not represent either types or individuals. There are no incongruities in human nature that are not harmonious, and few of these, with due respect for Mr. Emerson, are comic. The truest art is not an exaggeration of nature save for the purpose of producing an impression or a result which shall meet with instant and universal recognition. Louisiana's father is not a type nor an individual, though all the accessories of character-painting are brought to bear upon him with marvellous skill. He is a caricature of a class, and the dialect he uses is a burlesque upon the simple colloquial methods of those who live far enough from civilization to be honest. Mrs. Burnett is said to be engaged upon a novel of American society. Let us hope that she will fail to remember the sentimental demands of those whose tastes give an impetus to the lady-book literature of the day.

"The True Story of the Exodus of Israel," which will be published in a few days by Messrs. Lee & Shepard, is an abridgement, by Mr. F. H. Underwood, of the original work, "Egypt Under the Pharaohs," by Dr. Brugsch, who spent thirty years exploring the antiquities of that country. It is an earnest, thoughtful and scholarly work, aiming to set forth the results of carefully conducted researches which have led to the development of the true theory in regard to the location of the Israelites during their bondage to the Egyptians, the route chosen by them when they escaped and commenced their journey toward the Holy Land, as well as the source of most of their system of religious belief, including its peculiar laws and ceremonies.

The same firm will also publish immediately "The Wonderful Adventures of Tartarin, of Tarascon," from the French of Alphonse Daudet, translated by Robert Sedgwick Minot. This humorous story is in quite a different vein from "The Kings in Exile," by the same author, recently published, but many will consider it even more interesting and entertaining.

The Southern Cultivator.

The Southern Cultivator for May appears promptly on the day, affording to its subscribers and the public generally a cheap and pleasant substitute for the various and sundry picnics that now seem to threaten the country. The Cultivator opens as usual with the familiar talks of the editor to his readers comprising suggestions in regard to the work to be done upon the farm during the current month. The agricultural department, among other things, contains an essay on the cultivation of sugar cane, an article on cotton culture, on the proper utilization of labor, on agricultural experiments, on testing soils and manures, on Bermuda grass hay, and on various other subjects of practical and permanent value to the southern farmer. The other departments are full. The inquiry department especially maintains its interest, and, in order to make it still more complete, the editor invites suggestions, inquiries, and answers to questions that may appear. It is his desire to make the department a sort of middle ground where the farmers may meet to compare notes and ask questions. We are glad to be able to say that the Cultivator is meeting with renewed favor in all parts of the south.

THE petition that went on to Sherman from Georgia read, "Send on your bait, 'man." Whereupon John's wise and understanding sent them Badeau. This was very well, as far as it went, but some of the delegates protested against two-dollar lunches, and squealed too soon.

THE widow Oliver is making old man Cameron dance before the courts. Really, the widow seems to be ambitious of a third term.

CAN Mr. Jonathan Norcross furnish us with the name of any colored man who has ever asked a white republican to associate with him, or who has ever thrust himself into the society of white republicans? We do not believe that such a negro ever lived in the south. On the other hand, we can furnish the names of fifty white republicans who have offensively thrust themselves into the society of negroes.

WE would be glad to see a muster roll of a few of those thirty thousand Georgia republicans who are too fastidious to associate with colored men.

GEORGE ALFRED TOWNSEND is still doing business at his old stand. He sees Mr. Tilden pass along the street seven hundred and odd times a week, and each time he discovers some new distress of health or gait. And the esteemed Cincinnati Enquirer gets the benefit of it—along with some fresh quotations from the cyclopædias. G. Alfred is altogether the liveliest dumpling in the pot.

ELI PERKINS no longer adorns his lies with attempts at humor, but they continue to find favor in the jaundiced eye of Editor Medill, of Texas, late of Chicago.

THERE is one fact the democracy seems to have lost sight of. The candidate for vice-president must be a good fisherman. He must be capable of going off and sitting behind a rock for weeks and weeks at a time. This is the way Mr. William Almon Wheeler has earned his money and made his reputation as a statesman.

THE less scrupulous of the republicans are anxious for the people to indorse the credit mobilier scandals, and therefore they are in favor of Blaine. No republican in the country ever had a more disgraceful record, and this is putting it rather vehemently.

THE Ohio delegation will be for John Sherman, but the fact remains that he is not popular enough in his own state to prevent a Maine senator of disreputable political habits from dividing the convention with him. This ought to put an end to the John Sherman business.

MR. HENDRICKS has again declined. Indeed, Mr. Hendricks seems to be quite a declining candidate.

MR HEWITT is not certain about the success of the democracy. Mr. Hewitt is one of the high tariff bondholding democrats who hustled around and helped the republicans fix up the electoral frauds. It really doesn't matter, so far as Mr. Hewitt is concerned, whether the democracy is successful or not.

THE Hon. Ephraim Holland and the gents who train with him seem to be in the direct line of Texas immigration. Is a wink worth anything to a Cincinnati police officer?

THE Cincinnati Enquirer says Conkling would make a strong candidate. True. It is reckoned that the amount of energy he displayed in getting out of Rhode Island last year would have emptied a seven hundred thousand dollar grain elevator in nine seconds. It has been aptly described as a shuffle, a jerk, and a disappearance. Strong? Well, we should smile.

GENERAL SHERIDAN says this is the season when Indians are most easily stirred up. Is this, then, the anniversary of the massacre of the diseased Piegans? Between the small-pox and General Sheridan they were very easily stirred up—and out.

THE New York Tribune hoarsely remarks that the third term boosters are in danger of having something dead on their hands presently. This is true. There is no telling at what moment the Maine senator will collapse into a helpless effigy of himself, and Sherman is already a moribund candidate.

GEORGIA POLITICS.

THE movement in favor of Blount will by no means be confined to Macon. The whole state is interested in his re-election to congress.

THE Albany News thinks it is high time the democrats of that section were moving in the matter of selecting delegates to the June convention.

THE democrats of Dodge county will meet on the 5th of May for the purpose of electing delegates to the June convention, to be held in Atlanta.

THERE are three candidates for congress in the third district—Hon. Allen Fort, of Sumter, Hon. L. M. Felton, of Macon, and Hon. Phil. Cook, the present incumbent. The Hawkinsville Dispatch is of the opinion that the people are not yet ready to relieve General Cook of the duties and responsibilities of his present position.

THE democrats of Telfair county met last week and selected the following named gentlemen as delegates to the June convention: Tom Eason, C. C. Smith, W. J. Williams, A. P. Smith, D. A. Graham, Dr. T. J. Key, Duncan Cameron, Dr. J. B. Reynolds, W. P. Campbell and W. L. Smith. The delegates were instructed to vote for D. M. Roberts, of Dodge county, as one of the delegates to represent the district in the Cincinnati convention.

—PERRY Home Journal: "That the negroes in Georgia have been arrayed against the democrats in almost every political contest is due almost entirely to the influence of designing white leaders. Now that the negroes see the situation in its true light, so far as the white republicans in the state are concerned, there is no reason why the democrats cannot show to them that the political interests of the two races in the state are identical. The thing can be done, and it only remains for the democrats to assume the proper policy to induce the negroes to become true and genuine democrats, so far as state and county issues are concerned."

HAWKINSVILLE DISPATCH: "It is stated that the colored vote in the fifteenth senatorial district (Montgomery, Telfair and Irwin counties) has been overwhelmingly increased within the last two years, by the incoming of laborers from North Carolina and other sections to engage in the turpentine and timber business. It is believed by many that the republicans will put out a candidate for senator, in opposition to the democrats, and it is feared that, if the democrats run more than one candidate for senator, the republicans may be successful. The colored vote in Irwin county is still small. There are not, probably over one hundred colored votes in that county, while the white voters number about four hundred."

IN GENERAL.

—Mr. Lawrence Barrett is going abroad with his family in July.

—The editor of the Congressional Record should be provided with a waste-basket at once.

—General Hancock would make the most majestic looking president the country ever had.

—Mrs. A. T. Stewart has attracted a good deal of attention among her friends by laying aside black and beginning to appear in somewhat gaudy colors.

—Telegraph wires are being put up to connect with Music hall, Cincinnati. This will put a stop to the talk about removing the national democratic convention.

—Hon. Alex. McKenzie, ex-premier, has resigned the leadership of the opposition in the Dominion house of commons. He will probably be succeeded by the Hon. E. Blake.

—The man who has typhoid fever need not complain, says the Wheeling Leader. In about two weeks fellows will be going through street-cars taking votes on the presidential question.

—When, upon inquiry after a young lady's health, we learn from her own lips that she is "nicely," we know that she was born in New England, and that she would be "purty well" out west, and "tolable" in the south.

—A fairly rich Englishman lately looked into his payments for his minister's support and discovered that every sermon he heard cost him five pence—less than he paid for blacking his boots. Of course there are no parallel cases in this country.

—Prince Bismarck is suffering intensely from neuralgia, and only awaits the passage of important government bills by the reichstag to proceed to Luxemburg. Count Von Hatzfeldt, the present German ambassador to Turkey, after arranging his private affairs, will definitely assume the charge of the foreign office for the autumn.

—Delegate Downey's "argument" in verse has made an immense popular hit. The supply of the Congressional Record containing it is exhausted, and hundreds of applications come in daily for copies. The demand for the poem is almost unprecedented in literary annals. The copyright may pay the thrifty author, after all.

—The Alice Oates opera troupe, after an unprofitable series of performances at Pittsburg last week, was hindered in starting for Bedford, Pa., by the seizure of the trunks and music scores at the suits of unsatisfied creditors. Among the trunks seized was one containing the wedding trosseau of Miss Lizzie B Feehan, who had just been married to Gus. Hall, a member of the troupe. The matter was afterwards compromised.

—The Arabs are clever creatures. By way of escaping annexation to Turkey the leading inhabitants of Zafar have put their heads together and have concluded to annex themselves to Muscat—an arrangement that the Imaum of Muscat very naturally has jumped at. Moreover, this is a sort of left-handed gain for England, for Muscat nominally is under British protection. The new arrangement, therefore, gives England additional standing room conveniently close to the mouth of the Persian gulf.

—The only danger despised by the projectors of the Suez canal, has proved to be the one real impediment to its utility. The dreaded current from the Red sea has turned out no danger at all, and the curves in the channel which were made to resist the effect of this current are now pronounced wholly unnecessary. "Indeed," writes a correspondent, "when I came through in the Poonah, the longest ship that had ever entered the canal, these curves proved very serious obstacles to a quick passage."

—The king of Denmark has just had a birthday ball, and, like the good father he is, devoted himself thereat to his beautiful daughter, the princess of Wales, who visited Denmark to offer him her filial congratulations. Her short visit the king called "the most precious birthday gift that could have been offered to him." Both the queen and the princess were resplendent with diamonds, and the former is described as looking remarkably youthful even at her graceful daughter's side.

—The story now runs that Mr. Tilden intends to bring his batteries to bear upon the German vote. For this purpose it is said that he has purchased a controlling interest in the New York Staats Zeitung, perhaps the most influential German paper in the country. The Staats-Zeitung has heretofore been bitterly anti-Tilden. From the New York Star's account of the transaction it appears that Andrew H. Green, the late controller, and his brother, are the ostensible purchasers of the Staats Zeitung. Possibly they are the real purchasers. So far as Mr. Tilden is concerned, it is one and the same thing. Mr. Green is his daily companion and most intimate friend and admirer, and it is safe to say that under his management the great German paper will boom only for the sage of Gramercy.

—Boiled rice is the basis of Chinese food and the symbol of it, so to speak; for a waiter when asking you whether you are going to take a meal, will ask you if you will have some rice, and "Have you eaten your rice?" is equivalent to "How do you do?" In the north of China wheat and canary seed are also consumed in great quantities, boiled and made into small rolls. Cakes made of boiled wheat are held in high esteem, and these, with a little fish or some vegetables, will enable a Chinaman to make an excellent dinner. A Chinaman in comfortable circumstances takes, in addition to his breakfast, dinner and supper, various light refreshments between meals—the kuo-tsa leading up to the morning, the quo-tsong to the midday, and the tienchen to the evening meal.

—A Birmingham tory paper having written of Mr. W. H. Gladstone as "the beneficiary of a piece of nepotism enacted in his behalf by his father, in which Mr. W. H. Gladstone was permitted, until the end of his father's ministry, to pocket £1,000 a year of the taxes for doing nothing," a Birmingham liberal wrote to Mr. Gladstone on the subject, and received the following reply: "Sir: The story, I can assure, you, is utterly and shabbily false. My son served the public, as I did, in the usual way, as a lord of the treasury, which is not a sinecure, though some make it so. The differences were that I was appointed by Sir R. Peel, at 24, after two years in parliament; my son at 30, after five, and having done a great amount of gratuitous work for the state as my private secretary—a school severe enough. Your faithful and obedient servant, W. E. Gladstone."

—The last monthly report of the bureau of statistics shows that the total receipts of foreign merchandise for the eight months ending February 29, 1880, amount to $397,300,000, against $287,500,000 during the corresponding period of the preceding year, an increase of $110,000,000. One notable fact in connection with this increase, and one which is gratifying, is that the increase is largely contributed by merchandise which may either be recorded as raw materials or by such articles as are not produced in this country. The increase in the value of hides imported in the eight months of 1879-80 over those of 1878-79 was $7,800,000; of indigo, $3,000,000; of chemicals and dyes, $1,500,000; of tea and coffee, $15,750,000; of raw silks, $2,750,000; wool, $8,000,000. The most conspicuous increase of the dutiable articles occurs in iron—from $6,160,000 during the eight months of 1878-79 to $23,600,000 for the same period of the current year. The increase of silk goods has only been $4,300,000, the aggregate being $29,700,000. The increase of the imports of cotton goods has been from $13,130,000 to $18,230,000. The increase of the receipts of wool and worsted manufactures is about 20 per cent.

—A mining camp editor at Bodie recently received from a San Francisco bookseller a copy of Milton's "Paradise Lost." "More new books to review!" he sighed, taking out his tobacco knife and cutting the leaves. "Milton must be a new man," he added; "a New Yorker, I suppose. Well, here goes." Thereupon he wrote the following paragraph: "We received yesterday a copy of John Milton's poems from the enterprising publishing house of X. X., of San Francisco. The book opens with a long yarn, 'Paradise Lost.' He very improperly commences with a description of hell, a topic that is never mentioned in the polite circles of this camp, and gives a most thoroughly absurd pen-portrait of the devil. This person he pictures as many rods in length, while the best authorities on the subject have likened him to a goat. He goes on then to tell of a fight with a batch of angels, wherein the devil, as a matter of course, gets the worst of it, being from the very start the under dog in the fight. This is quite enough for us. John Milton would do better to return to his legitimate newspaper sphere. He may be able to describe a masquerade ball or a street row, but, in our opinion, he is a very poor poet." "This will do for Milton," said the editor, as he passed the copy in to the foreman.

What May or May Not Happen.

New York Times.

It is announced that Wm. H. Vanderbilt will sail for Europe on the Britannic, on Saturday, for a three months' trip; that Wm. K. Vanderbilt will follow in a month, to be absent six months, and that Cornelius Vanderbilt will start on a year's tour to the other side of the Atlantic during the coming summer. On Wall street all this was taken to mean that the family intend to retire from active business; that Cornelius Vanderbilt is not a candidate for the presidency of the Erie railroad; that Jay Gould is to become president of the New York Central railroad at the next election, and that the American Union and Western Union telegraph companies are to be consolidated shortly. It was also regarded as confirming the report that the New York Central stock is to be watered to $100,000,000.

After Ohio Illinois.

Cleveland Herald, rep.

After Ohio has spoken, the next point of general interest will be Illinois. Mr. Blaine has made a furious onslaught upon the ranks of the Grant in Grant's own state, just as he did upon the ranks of the Sherman men in Sherman's own state. In Illinois, however, he had the advantage of the prejudice against the third term to aid him, and he has met with far more flattering success than he did in Ohio, where his chief reliance was upon the personal ill will which a few persons of some influence in the state had against the secretary of the treasury. If Illinois does not actually send a majority of Blaine delegates to Chicago, it is highly probable that the forces will at all events be pretty evenly divided.

Theebau and Marriage Fees.

Chicago Tribune.

Theebau, king of Burmah, is not dead, and more's the pity. His disease is very peculiar, and on some occasions he has all the appearance of being dead, but it turns out that he is only unconscious. During one of these trances, which lasted three days, the priests who prescribed for the royal patient recommended that 225 virgins be sacrificed to the gods in order to procure his recovery. The recommendation was carried out, and the reverend gentlemen of Burmah doubtless take due credit for their prophetic insight. If the trances continue for any considerable length of time there will be a serious lack of wives for the young men of Burmah, and the priests may lose largely in marriage fees.

A Movement to be Watched.

Cincinnati Gazette, rep.

Our Atlanta correspondent telegraphs the particulars of an important political movement in Georgia. Certain white republicans, scared at the aggressiveness of the negroes, as manifested in the late republican convention, have started an organization to keep the offices and party machinery in the hands of the whites. Colonel Norcross, a leading republican, who heads the movement, believes the effect will be to bring back to the republican party thousands of voters who have been driven off by fear of negro rule. The movement is unique in southern politics, and it will be interesting to watch its further progress.

The Field Boom.

Richmond Commonwealth, dem.

As glad as we should be to see Mr. Bayard president, it would be simple madness for us to nominate him. He is accepted as the north as the representative of the "rebel element," and that fact would prevent his carrying a single northern or western state. We could elect Judge Field. He is as acceptable to the northern republicans as a republican would be. Though a democrat of the straightest sect all his life, he was an ardent union man all the war; so ardent that Mr. Lincoln made him a judge of the supreme court of the United States in March, 1863, in the very death throes of the war.

The Poet of Congress.

Washington Post.

It appears to be the general sentiment of the house that Delegate Downey had a clear right to soar onto his "liquescent ether" and that he violated no rule of the house when he followed Jove's chariot which streamed a trailing quiver of white thunderbolts, but when he came back and got his vision printed in the Record, at public cost, the house thinks Delegate Downey imposed on its confidence. The "liquescent ether" must have had a disturbing influence on Delegate Downey's cerebrum, and sympathetically upon his cerebellum.

Washburne's Chance.

Indianapolis Journal, rep.

When the friends of the three, that is to say Grant, Blaine and Sherman, begin to cool down and think of the probabilities of turning over their offices to the democrats, they will begin to look around for a man who can certainly be elected. Then look out for the Washburne boom, as all now agree that he is that man. There are plenty of men in Indiana who will bet ten to one on Washburne carrying the state if nominated.

Tilden Has no Second Choice.

Boston Journal, rep.

It is said that Judge Field is Mr. Tilden's second choice by one party, and by another that ex-Governor Hubbard, of Connecticut, is the favored man. The truth is, Mr. Tilden hasn't got so far as a second choice yet.

Old Enough to Know Better.

Cincinnati Commercial.

This is the birthday of General Ulysses S. Grant He is fifty-eight years of age, old enough to know better than to run for a third term of the presidency of the United States.

—A rare sight was seen in San Antonio, Texas, on San Jacinto day, the 21st inst. Of the veterans of Analhuac, Velasco and Goliad who assembled every one had white hair—two hundrede and fifty snowy heads around one table. The Alamo was visited by hundred, who thought of Davy Crockett as they read over the doorway: "Thermopylæ had her messenger of defeat, the Alamo had none."

—He asked a Cincinnati belle if there was much refinement and culture in that city, and she replied: "You just bet your boots we're a cultured crowd."—Boston Post. Timely Caution.

Genuine Hop Bitters are put up in square paneled, amber-colored bottles, with white label on one side printed in black letters, and green hop cluster, and on the other side yellow paper with red letters; revenue stamp over the cork. This is the only form in which genuine Hop Bitters are put and the sole right to make, sell, and use them is granted to the Hop Bitters Manufacturing Co., of Rochester, N. Y., and Toronto, Ont., by patents, copyright and trade mark. All others put up in any other way or by any one else, claiming to be like it or pretending to contain hops, by whatever names they may be called, are bogus and unfit for use, and only put up to sell and cheat the people on the credit and popularity of Hop Bitters.

The triumphs of Crucifix were all achieved between July 9, 1839, and June 5, 1840, considerably less than twelve months.

Dr. C. J. Moffett—Dear Sir: I cannot too strongly recommend your Teethina (Teething Powders) to mothers as one of the best medicines they can obtain for their debilitated and sickly infants. I have used it with very satisfactory results the past summer with my own child, and while we have heretofore lost a child or two from teething under other remedies, our present child that has taken Teethina is a fine, healthy boy. Its merit is certain to make it a standard family medicine for this country for the irritations of teething and bowel disorders of children of all ages.

WONDERFUL CURES

—BY THE—

HOLMAN

LIVER, AGUE AND STOMACH PADS.

A WORD TO INVALIDS.

We would impress the thousands of readers of THE CONSTITUTION, and have their minds thoroughly disabused of the idea that the Holman Pad is a patent nostrum, relying for its success upon the usual means employed by quack medicine dealers, and the credulity of a readily humbugged public. We are fully aware of the deplorable fact that nothing has so deceived the people of every country as patent medicines, ninety-nine one hundreths of which are not only utterly destitute of merit but are deleterious and dangerous compounds which aggravate disease and destroy thousands. The result has very naturally developed a prejudice which is difficult to dislodge, the more so because these propriet ry nostrums have been flaunted before the public in such extravagant language, and with such impertinent and pertinacious boldness and coloring that nothing can be said of a reliable and effective medicine unless use is made of the same declarations and claims employed by the empirical medical charlatans. Another very common way of advertising patent compounds is by testimonials from fictitious persons—any one using such deceptive means deserves the most condign punishment, yet it is permitted and the public is thus robbed and, we may well add, murdered.

THE HOLMAN PAD is a remedy within itself and has long since passed out of an infantile condition in which imputations might be cast upon its curative properties. It has builded itself A MONUMENT OF BLESSINGS from the grateful contributions of the thousands it has radically cured of the worst diseases peculiar to both continents: it has won its way to popular favor by its works and has received the appellation of "SOVEREIGN REMEDY," from those best qualified to bestow it. But better than all this, it is a well defined treatment susceptible of elucidation, and at once so rational and complete that no one can read the method so ably and thoroughly described in the Lecture of Dr. D. W. FAIRCHILD'S, of New York, without becoming thoroughly converted to the same opinions and belief.

The testimonials and endorsements found in this paper are from living Georgians, widely known, who have used the Holman Pad with such beneficial results that they have felt it their duty to give a voluntary recommendation of its wonderful virtues, actuated by the hope that the relief they have found at such small cost and quick and effective manner, may, though this means, be obtained by thousands of disease-stricken sufferers.

FACTS FOR THE PUBLIC.

The Stomach and Liver are the sources of vigor and health if kept in a healthy condition. There is no known remedy that will so promptly and effectively insure a healthy STOMACH and LIVER, and so thoroughly fortify the system against the sudden changes of our climate as the wonderful vitalizing, health-giving Holman's Liver and Stomach Pad. It is also a sure preventive of disease—ALL MALARIAL DISEASES. Do not fail to try the Holman Liver and Stomach Pad.

IT works by absorption.
Is two fold in its action—gives and takes.
IT is Honest, Effective, Harmless.
It is marvellous in its prompt and radical cure of every species of Liver and Stomach difficulties, the seat of most all diseases.
IT is worn over the vitals, Liver and Stomach.
IT removes torpidity of the Liver, gives tone to the Stomach, arresting fermentation and pain by giving it the natural quantity of bile and gastric juices.
IT also vitalizes the entire system with Nature's true tonic.
IT arrests all deteriorated and poisonous fluids in the Stomach, and thus prevents their entering the system by way of circulation.
IT absorbs from the body every particle of blood-poison, whether bilious, malarial or medicinal, and leaves the wearer in perfect health.
IT is the most wonderful discovery of the Nineteenth Century, and marks a new era in the history of medical science.
IT is a fact, incontestably proved in thousands upon thousands of cases, THAT THE HOLMAN LIVER AND STOMACH PAD WILL DO ALL THAT IS CLAIMED FOR IT. IT WILL CURE FEVER AND AGUE, BILIOUS DISORDERS, LIVER COMPLAINTS, INTERMITTENT FEVER, PERIODICAL HEADACHES, DYSPEPSIA, AGUE CAKE, CHILL-FEVER, DUMB AGUE, BILIOUS FEVER, JAUNDICE, NEURALGIA, KIDNEY TROUBLES, IRREGULAR ACTION OF THE HEART, RHEUMATISM, ALL KINDS OF FEMALE WEAKNESS, SICK HEADACHE, LUMBAGO, SCIATACA, PAIN IN THE SIDE, BACK, STOMACH, SHOULDERS AND MUSCLES, BILIOUS COLIC, BILIOUS DIARRHŒA, ETC.
For safety, convenience and effectiveness, it commends itself to every household.
The following are a few of the testimonials among thousands in our office.

READ AND PONDER THEM:

WHAT AN INDEPENDENT PAPER HAS TO SAY ABOUT IT.

We do not think the history of medical treatment has ever shown anything to equal the growth of the Holman Liver Pad. At first the Pad was laughed at, and its pretensions derided by men who should have known that the simplest inventions are the most important, and that because the truth has lain hid for eighteen centuries it is no less truth. The Holman Pad has been tried by over 1,000,000 patients, and its success has been simply phenomenal. There are 500 to-day being used in Atlanta, and we have yet to hear of the first one that has failed to give satisfaction. We heard two of our prominent citizens who had been using the Pad for several weeks discussing its work, on yesterday, and we say truly that if their comments could be published in the Gazette this morning, it would result in 1,000 being ordered in less than a week. We have repeatedly heard those who had used them discuss their merits, and we feel safe in recommending them to our readers as the most powerful remedial agent that is known to modern medicine. Give them a trial, and if they don't do what is claimed for them we will pay the damages.—Atlanta Sunday Gazette, Henry W. Grady Esq., editor.

FROM A WELL-KNOWN EPISCOPAL MINISTER.
ATLANTA, GA, April 26, 1879.

Dear Sir—Having passed a large portion of my life in the lower part of this state, and suffered a great deal from chills and fever, I removed to this city, whose pure waters and delightful climate are appreciated by all, but even here, every spring, I have been afflicted with torpidity of the liver, pain in the right side and continuous headache. When I met you two months ago, I was in miserable health; having learned my symptoms, you said you could cure me at once by the use of your Pad; as I told you, I had no confidence in it, but, by reason of your importunity, I took it, and carefully followed your directions, and I now desire to state that in twelve hours after the application of the Pad, the headache ceased, the pain in side was removed. No symptoms of the disease have since returned. My general health is now as good as it ever was. To me the Holman Pad has been all and more than you recommended it to be. I am very truly your friend,
GEORGE MACAULEY.

FROM THE MANAGING PROPRIETOR OF THE LEADING NEWSPAPER OF GEORGIA.
CONSTITUTION OFFICE, ATLANTA, GA., Nov. 10, 1879.
I tried the Holman Liver Pad for indigestion, and it has cured me.
W. A. HEMPHILL.

FROM A WIDELY-KNOWN LAWYER AND EX-MEMBER OF CONGRESS.
ATLANTA, October 9, 1878.

Dear Sir—My wife has been afflicted for several years with diseases peculiar to females, and has been unable to work for a number of years, and being irregular in her diet and having no appetite, I am happy to inform you that the Holman Pad and Plasters have been a complete success. Her appetite is good—better than it has been for years, and her health is nearly restored, and she is now walking about the house, a thing she has not done for many years, which I attribute with medicinal propriety to the Holman Pad and Plaster, and I cheerfully recommend them to the afflicted. Yours truly,
JOHN A. WIMPEY, 2½ Marietta Street.

ATLANTA, June 1, 1879.

Dear Sir—It is due to the public to state that after suffering with rheumatism for several months, trying many prescriptions from physicians without relief. I bought of you a Holman Pad; wore it five or six weeks, and am now clear of any symptoms of the disease. Very respectfully,
D. P. ELLIS, Auctioneer, with Hall & Morris, Marietta St.

ATLANTA, GA., June 18, 1879.

Colonel—Your Holman Liver Pad has cured me completely, and, I believe, permanently. For two years I suffered with disease of the liver and bowels, with frequent attacks of the most agonizing cramps in the stomach and bowels. I tried several distinguished physicians with no other result than temporary relief. To my profound astonishment, your Pad did the work, and did it well.
Yours respectfully, B. H. PORTER,
With Gramling, Spaulding & Co., Marietta Street.

FROM PRESIDENT FIRST NATIONAL BANK, NEWNAN, Ga.

Within a few days after my son began wearing the Pad, from a sallow, debilitated condition, he began to regain a good appetite and fatten, until now he is of a clear, rosy complexion, and is in as good health as could be desired. I have no doubt it is from the use of the Pad, as all the skill of good physicians had failed to produce any change.
W. B. BERRY.

FROM A WIDELY KNOWN ATLANTA MERCHANT
ATLANTA, GA., November 1, 1879.

Gentlemen—I have been a sufferer from dyspepsia and indigestion for two years, and have been taking medicines. I am now wearing Holman's Liver Pad, and have received more benefit from it than all the medicine I have taken. I would not be without it.
SAMUEL WILKINS,
Of Franklin & Wilkins, Provision Dealers, No. 18 Mitchell St.

FROM A PROMINENT MERCHANT.

I have less confidence in patent medicines than almost any man; that there is some virtue in the Holman Liver Pad, I have no doubt. I was afflicted with sciatica for six months, and tried, it seems, a thousand remedies, Hot Springs, Arkansas, among the rest, and found no relief. I tried the Holman Pad, and in thirty-six hours slept very soundly—something I had not done in six months, and am now entirely recovered. The credit is due to the Holman Pad.
Respectfully, R. F. MADDOX, 6 E. Wall St., Atlanta, Ga.

FEVER AND CHILLS CURED IN SIX DAYS.
STARKSVILLE, GA., November 8, 1879.

FROM COLONEL DOZIER, AUGUSTA.

I take pleasure in endorsing the Holman Liver Pad, having used it for dyspepia, and found it to be of great service to me.
E. J. DOZIER.

MACON, GA., March 13, 1880.

Messrs. SMYTH & CO., Agents for Holman Pads:

Dear Sirs—You ask our opinion as to the increasing demand and popularity of the Holman Pads, and we would say that we have sold about three times the quantity in the last twelve months as we did the twelve months previous, and the universal opinion is that they are the best thing of the kind ever recommended to the public, and, therefore, if people don't think they are good they don't buy them or use them a second time. Their increased sale speak of their virtues. Yours respectfully,
HUNT, RANKIN & LAMAR.

WHAT THE LEADING WHOLESALE DRUGGISTS SAY.
AUGUSTA, GA., January 24, 1880.

Messrs. Smyth & Co., Agents Holman Liver Pad:

Dear Sirs—The sales of Holman Pads have considerably increased in the past six months, and I hear uniformly good accounts of them from those who have made use of them. They have come to be recognized in this section as a leading remedy, and during the next summer and fall I anticipate still increased sales. Yours respectfully,
J. H. ALEXANDER, Drug Store.

AUGUSTA, GA., January 19, 1880.

DR. J. H. ALEXANDER, Agent Holman's Liver Pad, Augusta, Ga.:

Dear Sir—In April of last year I was in feeble health, suffering from chronic indigestion and torpidity of the liver. Under the advice of a friend I ordered of you one of Holman's Liver Pads and used it according to directions, with immediate benefit, and, I think permanent cure, as I have not had a day's sickness during the last six months. I have recommended it to many others, and always with like beneficial result. Very respectfully yours,
E. E. JEFFERSON.

A DISTINGUISHED MEMBER OF THE BAR AND PLANTER'S TESTIMONY.
HAWKINSVILLE, GA., April 21, 1879.

Dear Sir—While at my plantation in Dougherty county, in the summer of 1878, I contracted chills and fever, to which I had always been predisposed. Leaving there I came to Macon, expecting to have a chill next morning. I called in a drug store for quinine. The druggist told me that Malarial Pads had been left him to introduce; that he knew nothing of them except that he had put one on the negro man who waited on the store, and who had been having chills, and that he had no more chills. He put on me one of Holman's Liver Pads, and, to my surprise, I did not have a chill the next morning, nor afterward. I wore the pad for three months, feeling better than any summer for years before. In the fall I wore the pad to Dougherty county, and leaving it there my overseer, who was having chills, put it on, and it broke up his chills, and, he said, caused him to feel good the balance of the year. I have recommended it to several of my friends, and it has given universal satisfaction. Respectfully,
GEORGE W. JORDAN.

We have tried the Holman Pad with most thorough and beneficial results, and found it to be all that is claimed for it. We heartily commend it.

ROUND ABOUT IN GEORGIA.

—Mr. R. H. Daniels, of Americus, denies with some bitterness the statement of John W. Griffin, of Dodge county, who recently accused him of dealing in forged land titles.

—The Augusta Chronicle pays a very high tribute to Albert Lamar. We would call him colonel; but really it seems sheer injustice to handicap such a man with so small a title. Albert Lamar is the one man who has conquered and caged what people call the inimitable. His very laziness is inimitable. Here's a health to him.

—The Macon Telegraph says that on Thursday night a barrel of new Georgia flour was expressed from Macon to Messrs. Lang & Robinson, No. 2 South street, New York. This flour was ground by J. L. Cook & Co., of Macon, from wheat cut on the 10th day of April, from the plantation of John L. Larramore, in Lee county, and donated by him to the ladies of Calvary Episcopal church of Americus, who are making strenuous efforts to pay off the church debt. The flour is to be shipped to Europe and sold, and the proceeds returned to the ladies. It is thought that under the circumstances the flour will bring a large price. It will reach New York earlier than any ever shipped from this section. The ladies have addressed a letter to Mr. T. H. Henderson, requesting that the shipment go forward free, and the matter being referred to W. H. Clayton, superintendent of the Southern express company, it was ordered that the request be granted.

—X. I. E.: The English sparrow spreads faster than a rumor. A young sparrow kicks off his swaddling clothes when four days old, and in three weeks is a grandfather. Seventeen generations can be seen on one family tree at times.

—Franklin News: Last Saturday night about 12:30 o'clock the alarm of fire was heard on our streets, and it was soon discovered that Mr. Joe M. Smith's new residence on the west side of the square was on fire. Mr. Smith and his family were spending the night at the hotel. Quite a number of our citizens went to the fire as soon as the alarm was given, but were too late to save anything except a bed or two and some of the children's clothing. It required great effort to save the other buildings near by. The pump at the jail was used to great advantage. The origin of the fire is unknown. The citizens of the town have kindly contributed to the wants of the unfortunate family.

—Augusta News: We almost daily have occasion to refer to the heartless and inhuman treatment of dumb animals by their owners or others, but it appears that Henry Rickerson, of Laurens county, is the most cruel man in Georgia. Last Monday he went out in the field to plow. During the forenoon he became enraged with the horse, tied him to a tree and put in to beating him unmercifully with large poles. The horse, in running around the tree, was drawn so close to it that the rope which was drawn through the bit-rings broke the under jaw on both sides. When he was led through Dublin it was an ugly sight to behold. The jaw was hanging down and the tongue lolled out and was bleeding profusely. Dr. Harris, of that town, splintered it as well as it could be done, and the horse now only lives by sucking meal and water through his teeth.

—Oglethorpe Echo: The last grand jury indicted a former merchant of this county, but who is now doing business on the Elberton railroad. He is charged with ravishing a negro child on Mr. George H. Lester's place, only ten years old and very small to her age. The child is reported to have been ruined for life and for many weeks lay at death's door. The testimony of the witnesses shows it to have been a most brutal outrage. The alleged perpetrator has doubtless been arrested ere this, as a warrant was at once sent to the sheriff of Franklin county. This is not a bailable case and the penalty is death. The accused is a fine looking man, of good address and is well educated. He has also a wife and we believe children. We earnestly hope that he may be able to establish his innocence. If arrested he will be lodged in jail here.

Invest Your Money Safely.

I TAKE THE LIBERTY OF CALLING THE attention of parties desiring to make investments to the great advantages to be derived from buying securities paying A REGULAR STATED INTEREST, SUCH AS FIRST CLASS BONDS.

I can furnish such in limited quantities. Good Bonds are scarce and hard to get. Parties holding good Bonds are slow to part with them, not knowing where they can safely reinvest their money.

Spots closed firm and unchanged; middlings 11 13 16c. There is but little doing in the local cotton market. Spots are dull with a moderate inquiry for good grades. Our receipts to-day amount to 70 bales, of which 12 bales were received from wagons. The prices below are quotable: Middlings 11c; low middlings 10¾c; good ordinary 10c

LIVERPOOL, April 30.—This week's circular of the Liverpool cotton brokers' association says: Cotton was in more demand on Monday and Tuesday, with some advance in prices, but on Wednesday the market became quiet. On Thursday it was flat, and with a pressure to sell, quotations of some descriptions were reduced. American was in fair request, and after some fluctuations quotations were generally 1-16d lower. Sea Island was unimproved and business continues of a very retail character. Futures opened lower. On Saturday there was a better feeling which continued until Tuesday, with some recovery in prices. Since then they have been flat and depressed. The final rates are 3-32d lower.

The Wool Market.

New York quotations show a decline of 1@3c in fleece wools. The demand there is for fine clothing wools, with a preference given to Montevido, Cape and Australian products to the few lots of fleeces obtainable. Medium wools were selling below the cost of importations.

The future of the New York market is anxiously considered, with better stocks of foreign wool in the hands of manufacturers and dealers than since 1872. The west, it is reported, was entirely cleaned out of western products, and manufacturers there have been getting their supplies from the east. Messrs. Mauger & Avery, under date of April 20, says: "About all of the direct importations of foreign wools, except possibly a few cargoes from cape of Good Hope, have arrived, and the greater portion will go at once into consumption. The recent advance in prices at the opening of the London sales indicates a very firm feeling there, and it is doubtful if any more wool can be obtained from foreign markets this year, while it is reasonably certain that if values in Europe continue firm, our surplus of foreign wool will be reshipped should prices decline here. The lateness of the season has affected the distribution of spring woolens among consumers, and the wholesale business has been affected during the past few weeks. Most of the mills, however, are still running on unfinished orders, and with the advance in the cost of labor, and continued high price for wool, it is not likely that goods can be produced any cheaper. As the profits of the coming season depend largely on the price at which the new clip will be marketed, a strong effort will be exerted to depress the market, and it is possible that it may be partially successful; but there are influences equally as potent to sustain prices, and we are inclined to look for a fairly quiet market without much, if any, change in prices during the coming month."

THE FIREMEN.

THE ANNUAL FIRE PARADE, MONDAY.

Grand Preparations of the Department for the Celebration of their Annual Festival—The Order of Exercises Prepared for the Occasion.

The annual parade of the Atlanta fire department comes off Monday next. For some days past the members of the various companies of the city have been exerting themselves with the view of presenting a fine display, and from all that we can learn we are of the opinion that the display this year will compare favorably with any heretofore made in this city. All of the engines and the hook and ladder truck have been placed in first-class condition and the members of several of the companies, we learn, will be out in new uniforms.

The boys are looking forward to the event with unbounded feelings of pleasure and anticipate having a glorious time, from the beginning to the close of the day. The engines and the hook and ladder truck will be elaborately decorated with flowers. Some of the ladies of the city have already notified several of the companies that they will supply them with wreaths and garlands with which to beautify their machines. Citizens generally who propose to contribute flowers and evergreens are requested to send them to the engine houses by seven o'clock, as the parade commences at nine o'clock and some time will be needed to place the decorations upon the machines in an attractive style.

No doubt the boys will display as much taste in decorating their pet machines as the ladies do in fixing their bangs preparatory to attending a grand dress ball. Through the agency of W. R. Joiner, Geo. Haney and Sam Prioleau, the committee appointed to solicit subscriptions for the purchase of prizes, the sum of $456 has been raised. The largest portion of this sum was contributed by the insurance agents of this city, and the firemen feel deeply gratified to them for their kindness. It is safe to say that a handsomer collection of prizes was never offered by the department of Atlanta. In the programme we give them in the order that they will be contested for. They were purchased from J. P. Stevens & Co., and are now displayed in the windows of their store on Whitehall street, where they have attracted immense attention.

The prizes are more numerous and of handsomer design than ever before contested for in this city.

Among the visiting companies that will be here will be Clinch No. 2, of Augusta. This company will show a strength in the parade of fifty men. The company, it is expected, will reach Atlanta Sunday afternoon, and during its visit to Atlanta the members will be guests of Mechanics No. 2. The members of the Clinch speak hopefully of carrying back with them to Augusta three of the handsomest prizes that are offered.

Marietta No. 1, with thirty-five men, will reach Atlanta Monday morning at an early hour, and put up with their friends at the Hook and ladder house. This company it will be remembered made a handsome showing last year, winning one of the best prizes offered by the department.

It is also thought that Montgomery No. 2 will be here to take part in the parade. There will doubtless be a full turnout of the department, and a handsome showing may be expected. The contest for the prizes will commence about ten o'clock, or as soon thereafter as the parade is concluded.

The contest for the handsome individual prize, consisting of a gold medal appropriately inscribed, offered by David H. Dougherty, will doubtless attract more attention than any other. Each Atlanta company will enter two men in this contest. A member of the Clinch fire company will run against the best time made by any of the contestants of this city. He, it is said, has never been beaten, and has upon all occasions of a similar character thrown dust into the eyes of his competitors.

We learn that a member of No. 4 has been in training for some days past having made up his mind to make a hot dispute for the handsome prize. He has handicapted himself by carrying ten pounds of shot fastened to each ankle and before starting in the race will take off his weights. As before stated, the firemen, as well as the entire public, look for a grand time on Monday and if we are not mistaken they will not be disappointed. From the appearance of the weather at present Monday will be a beautiful day for such outdoor sports and there will be a full turn out of everyone who takes any interest in the firemen of Atlanta and the prosperity of that department of the city.

The following is the programme, which we publish in full:

The companies shall assemble in full uniform, with apparatus, on Marietta street, right resting on Broad, in the following order: Visiting Companies, Hook and Ladder Company, No. 1 Steamer, No. 2 Steamer, No. 3 Steamer, No. 4 Hose Reel, No. 5 Hose Reel.

The procession, headed by music and board of officers of the fire department, will move at 9 o'clock a.m. through the principal streets of the city, and return to Marietta street in front of the capitol, where the contests are to take place.

Hook and ladder company to run 200 yards, with truck drawn by horses; take off ladder, place to building; man to ascend and descend. Ladder to be replaced in shortest time.

Hose reel contest—Each reel to carry 250 feet of hose (connected), to be weighed, and one man allowed to every 75 pounds, (no fractions). All work to be performed by the number of men allowed to each reel. Each company to run 200 yards, unreel from carriage 100 feet of hose, attach to hydrant, attach pipe, and play water 100 feet. The hydrant, in all cases, to be in ordinary condition, viz., capped and closed, and inspected by the judges before using. No second trial to be allowed, except in failure of water-works. Time to be taken from the drop of the red sack to the drop of water flag. The company making the quickest time to be declared the winner of first prize; next best time, second prize.

Steamer contest No. 1—Raising steam and playing water 100 feet in quickest time. Steamer to take place on cistern, lay out 100 feet of hose, and play water 100 feet. Time to be taken from first appearance of smoke from stack to drop of water flag. Company making best time to be declared winner of first prize; next best time, second prize.

Steamer contest No. 2.—Each steamer, as soon as the steam gauge shows 80 pounds of steam, with closed safety valve, will be allowed ten minutes to play and the engine throwing water the furthest distance shall be declared winner of first prize; next greatest distance second prize. Each steamer to be allowed twenty minutes to raise the 80 pounds of steam.

Individual contest for the fire department of Atlanta—Man to run 200 yards with spanner in hand, open plug and play water two feet and close and recap plug. Only two men from each company allowed to run. The one making the quickest time to be awarded the D. H. Dougherty gold medal for twelve months.

Any company failing to conform to the rules will be ruled out, and no time recorded them.

Engines, after contest against time, will be required to make the distance play before leaving cistern.

Prizes—Hook and ladder, one silver tea set (seven pieces), $120; first prize, reel, French clock, with ornaments, value $100; second prize, reel, one tea set (five pieces), $65; first prize, steam, water set, $75; second prize, steam, water set, $50; first prize, distance, water service (five pieces), $100; second prize, distance, water set, $50; individual prize, D. H. Dougherty, gold medal.

Contest open to all white companies in the state.

A Social Event.

Last evening a brilliant social event was celebrated at the palatial residence of Mr. Rhode Hill, on Peachtree street. The occasion referred to was a superb hop, given complimentary to Miss Lillie Preston, of Davenport, Iowa, by the young men of Atlanta. The occasion was one of rare pleasure to all who attended. A fine string band was in attendance and dancing was the happy programme of the evening. Atlanta society was out in full force and a more attractive or brilliant scene we have never before witnessed.

Miss Preston, the young lady in honor of whom the hop was given, during her visit to Atlanta has occupied a charmed position in the society of this city, and by her cultivated and polished manner and attractive style, has won much popularity. She leaves in a few days on her return home, and Atlanta, after her departure, will contain many warm and ardent admirers of Miss Preston, who upon all occasions managed to win their esteem and admiration.

THE TWO ORPHANS.

A Good Performance of a Strong Play.

A large and enthusiastic audience turned out last night to see Mr. John T. Ford's excellent company present the powerful play of "The Two Orphans" at DeGive's opera house. We notice that the names of the ladies who played the "Orphans" are put upon the programme in large type, and at the head. This probably is as it should be, for to speak truth the Louise of Marie Bockel reminded us at times of Kate Klaxton in that remarkable character, and the Henrette of Belle Mackenzie was a sweet and earnest piece of work. But there was another name on that programme—a name so printed down, down, from the top and in very small type at that—which, with all due deference to those charming actresses, in our judgment, should have been in the biggest possible type at the tip-top of the list. That name is Mrs. Jane Germon, who acted the Widow Frochard to the very life.

For the rest the Countess de Linieres of Miss Fannie Denham was creditable, the Marianne of Miss Thompson fine, the Pierre Frochard and Ricard of George Denham, and the Chavelier de Vandry and Jacques of Mr. Downing both excellently done.

The play was handsomely mounted, the scenery having been imported by Mr. Ford, and with the exception of slight delays between the acts, worked smoothly from beginning to end.

The comedy of "Dr. Clyde" this afternoon, and "Pink Dominos" to-night.

—Young man, go to the city hall this morning and join the Sunday-school procession—you will honor yourself by doing it. Don't think it is for the young children. You will find in that procession hundreds of those whose good-will and association you most desire to win. Join the procession; the young ladies are sure to do it.

—Excursion street cars for park to-day every 15 minutes. Children 10c round trip. 1t

DeGive's Opera-House To-Night.

Pink Dominos or the frolics of a cotton broker and his friends, will constitute a part of the comedy entertainment provided for to-night. It is a merry play, full of bright comic effects, in which wives and husbands try to outwit each other and are outwitted in turn by demure, little and pretty Rebecca, "My Lady's Maid." There will be songs by Little Parslow of juvenile "Pinafore fame, and the musical farce of "Jenny Lind" will give Miss Bockel's charming voice, and Mr. Denham's spontaneous comedy an equal chance. There will be three hours of continuous laughter at the opera house to-night. On Monday the company appears in Chattanooga and on Wednesday at the centennial in Nashville.

The Matinee To-Day at DeGive's.

The matinee to-day will be a new five act home comedy, entitled "Dr. Clyde," a most delightful play for ladies and children, full of the most pleasant fun, illustrating the experiences of a most industrious physician, whose ideas of duty made his life a continuous self-sacrifice. Mr. Denham, as his servant, is at his best, "as it were," in a capital comic role, and all the ladies and gentlemen of the company have strong and merry parts to act. The admission is to be 50 cents; children 25 cents. The doors open at 2, and the curtain rises punctually at 3 o'clock.
